Job Title	Median salary	Education requried	Number of jobs	Job outlook	Employment change
Data Scientist	108020	Bachelor's degree	202900	36%	73100
Public Relations Specialist	66750	Bachelor's degree	308000	6%	19200
Reporter	57500	Bachelor's degree	49800	-3%	-1400
Author	73690	Bachelor's degree	150700	5%	7700
Marketing Manager	156580	Bachelor's degree	411300	8%	31100
Producer/Director	82510	Bachelor's degree	167900	8%	13500
Editor	75020	Bachelor's degree	114200	-2%	-2300
ESL teacher	60560	Bachelor's degree	41700	-13%	-5300
Bartender	31510	None	734300	9%	64500

Do any of your findings surprise you?

I wasn't surprised by the majority of this data. Sadly, things like number of reporters decreasing does align with my existing expectations of the modern-day job market. The only thing that gave me pause was the stark decline of ESL teachers, though I imagine that is likely in response to our changing global system in the long aftermath of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Rank the jobs from best to worst and briefly explain why you've done so.

I've made these rankings based on which profession appeals the most to myself while also taking market job growth over time into consideration

1. Public relations specialist

2. Marketing manager

3. Producer/director

4. Editor

5. Reporter

6. Data scientist

7. Bartender

8. ESL teacher